LITTLE FLURRIES OF SNOW AND BIG FROSTS AT NIGHT, WOULDN'T THIS BE A GOOD TIME TO TALK FURS?

Cheapside is better prepared than ever before to cater to your wants in this direction.

We have a full stock of Dressed Skins in South Sea Seal, Persian Lamb, Bokran Lamb, Plucked and Unplucked Otter, Beaver and Astrachan Skins in six different qualities, Grey Lamb Skins, Black and Brown Labrador Seal Skins, Silver Coney, Grey Squirrel Circular Linings, Cooon Skins, Sable Skins, Bear, Mink, and we can make any mottled thing that anybody wants in any kind of garment, Cap, Muffs, Boas, Mantles, Jackets, Far-lined Circulars, Collars and Cuffs, Gauntlets, Capes, Robes, etc., for men, women and children, equal to any city work.

We can make over, and are busy all the time making over, and repairing all sorts of furs into new shapes. "Resuscitating," "rejuvenating," old and partially worn furs into stylish, presentable, wearable shapes. Bring in anything you have laid aside, "resurrect-has-beens" and if they are not mottled eaten and past redemption, we will surprise you. Otter worn for years can be plucked, dyed and made up as nice as seal and so on.

If you expect to get a Fur Mantle this winter come in now and select the skins, and let us have your measure. We will give you satisfaction or no sale. We use only the best parts of the skins, (no flanks or paws.) We put in only the best linings, all sown with silk, (no cotton) well stayed and warranted for three years. We will cheerfully make any repairs needed for three years or four for that matter. To our best Mantles, we think they are good for eight or ten years without repairs, but then you have the privilege as stated. No argument ought to be needed to convince you that the most desirable place to buy your furs is at Cheapside.

WE BUY HUNDREDS OF SKINS from first hands for cash and make them up on our own premises and know as a matter of fact No. 1, that we can make them much cheaper than we can buy them ready-made. Fact No. 2, that they are made of much better material and better, more substantially made. Fact No. 3, that they are a good deal cheaper, and we sell them cheaper.

FURS IS ONLY ONE DEPARTMENT with us and we have only space to say a few words about the other goods.

WE HAVE NICE BOYS' AND YOUTHS' Suits and Overcoats, neat, stylish and good.

LAST SATURDAY was a big day with us, and a big flannel day. We were disappointed in not receiving our shipment of Grey Flannels, heavy all wool to sell at 20c, but being bound to keep our word to the letter, we cut down a higher priced flannel to 20c. Now we have a big lot of heavy, all-wool flannel, just in, to sell at 20c. Ladies' say they are better than they paid 25 cents for at other stores.

WE HAVE BIG BARGAINS all over the store. Now that barley is firm and on the rise, it will be good news that we will sell you a good 3-day bag for $2 a dozen or more.

IF YOU WANT stylish and cheap Millinery Mantle Cloths, Underclothing, cheap Grey, White or Black Fur Robes and Carpets, come and see us.

We have stacks of every class of goods "suitable to the season," just what you want, and the value we warrant a shade better than you can get in this section. Prices away down.

TYENDINGA RESERVE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The deputation who left last week to spy out land in Muskoka have notified us of their arrival in that land of promise.

Several masked Deseronto youths celebrated Halloween on the Reserve to the annoyance of our people; fences were thrown down, burgies removed, and other depredations committed.

We are pleased to learn that John A. Lee, who was selected as illiterate assessor.

Efforts are being made to establish an agricultural society for the members of the Band.

Many of our people witnessed the launch of the Obola on Tuesday. Conspicuous in the crowd was the portly figure of Jesse Martin in red costume.

Our Pastor is one of the unfortunate who suffered heavily from the sudden disappearance of Wm. McCollough, lessee of the glebe farm in second concession of the Indian Reservation.

The members of L. O. L. No. 99, met at their lodge room on Saturday morning, and will dine together at the house of the W. Master, Simon Hill.

LONSDALE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The water in the river here is very low for this time of year, though we have had considerable rain of late and hard frost a few nights closing the ponds.

It moved and was very cold, pleasant on Sunday, and the farmers are again ploughing.

Mr. Howell has been putting a large quantity of new machinery in his mill, and is determined not to be out-done in the manufacture of flour.

Mrs. Howell was taken very suddenly and severely sick on Saturday, but we are glad to hear she is getting much better.

A street in our village looks somewhat forsaken, and some of our neighbors, especially the young men, miss the occupants very much, viz., Mr. Herbert Winter and his daughters, he having closed his home and gone to the States on a visit to friends.

It was very welcome for him here since one of Deseronto's young men captured his eldest daughter and carried her away. His second daughter, Emma, has gone to her brother's in Tweed, and the third and youngest, Sarah to Deseronto. Please send him The Tribune to Sackett's Harbour, Jefferson County, N. Y., to the end of the year; he thinks it will greatly cheer him up while absent from home.

RICKETS IN ANIMALS.—This disease is produced by an imperfect nutrition of the bones of young animals. Sheep, pigs, foals and puppies suffer from it more than calves. It is also common in the human family. In foals whose dam is worked hard, and which are not allowed to suck often enough, and in animals born in menageries, it is of common occurrence. Animals born with it will generally die, death being preceded by paralysis. In certain families the affection is hereditary, but anything that undermines the general health may develop it in an animal predisposed to it. The first indication of rickets is a swelling of the bones, and inflammation of the periosteum. Afterward the bones, especially those of the legs, bend and become distorted. The chief treatment must consist in removing the cause of the malady, by giving nutritious food, free access to its dam, tonics, lime and cod liver oil, and anything that relaxes when required. A dry airy sleeping place should be provided, and access to open air, sunshine, gentle exercise. Where the legs are crooked, suitable splints and bandages should be applied.

Mr. J. G. Day, who has been the genial assistant of Mr. White during the building of the steel steamer, leaves for Montreal next week. Mr. Day has proved himself a capable official and has made himself a favorite with many friends who will regret his departure.

Deseronto, Ont. Gen. Manager.

GRAND UNION SOCIAL.

The Union Social of the four churches of Deseronto, held under the patronage of Mr. Douglas, last Friday evening, brought together in the best audience ever assembled in Deseronto. At an early hour in the evening people began to move toward the White Church, and by half-past seven o'clock the seats were filled. The servers, however, continued to pack away new arrivals until the aisles and every nook and corner in the building were filled. At 8 o'clock, the chairman, Mr. F. W. Rathbun, called the meeting to order, and in a brief address stated his pleasure at being present on an occasion which had brought the representatives of four churches present for a united object. He referred in appropriate terms to the broad catholicity for invitation by Mrs. Douglas in extending her invitation to members of different churches, and felt that her action must prove effective in improving the friendly relations happily existing among the different denominations in Deseronto. The programme, one of unusual merit, was then proceeded with. The speeches of the different clergymen were very happy, and the various numbers of the programme were loudly applauded. The Rathbun Company Band was invited, kindly offering their services on the occasion, and played a number of selections in remarkable good taste. At the close of the programme, on motion of Mr. Edward Macdonald, Messrs. John McCullough and W. E. Eggar, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mrs. Douglas for her invitation evening's entertainment which all had so greatly enjoyed. Over 800 were realized.

RAISE BETTER HORSES.

Fashion has brought about many changes in horse breeding among American farmers, and no race has set the new style more forcibly or to larger purpose than the American trotting horse. The American trotter is a horse capable of every service; there is almost literal truth in the line of the speed in which he can trot one mile, and his capacity of endurance, whereof such contests are most exciting proof, is unexampled as a fact in the minds of all observant men, while his patient temper, and good size, combined with the extraordinary muscularity with which true systems of breeding have endowed him, render him an exceedingly valuable animal for any work of labor and routine.

The farmer who is looking forward to improvement in his stock, must be careful in making selection of his breeding animals, and herein it is of the utmost importance that the sire chosen be an available, valuable, and in every respect, a choice animal, possessing individually and ancestrally the best qualities which the offspring is desired to possess.

LOCAL ITEMS.

The first of a series of Lectures on the Book of Ruth will be delivered next Sabbath evening in the Church of the Redeemer. The Young People's Association of the Church of the Redeemer hold their regular meeting in the parlor of the church this evening.

Quite a snow storm took place last Saturday and the "beautiful" remainder on the ground until Sunday evening. Up to the present time we have received no poem on the subject.

A stack of hay belonging to Mr. E. Walsh and situated on the Brant farm this side of Marysville was destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning. It is a case of incendiarism.

The Managing Committee of the Methodist Sabbath School have decided to hold their annual Christmas festival on the evening of Monday, Dec. 20th. It will exceed all former entertainments in the history of Melrose, or by calling on him to-morrow (Saturday) at Shannonville.

TOTTENHAM, ONT., May 3rd, 1887.

I have been troubled with nasal catarrh for the last five years. Seeing Nasal Balm advertised I procured a bottle, and although I have only used it a few days, I do not hesitate to pronounce it the best remedy in the world for that loathsome disease, catarrh. It is easy and pleasant to use, soothing and healing in its action, instantly relieving, removes and changes the poisonous secretions to a healthy state, stops the croppings from head to the throat and relieves the symptoms of catarrh and cold in the head. In fact if the directions are faithfully followed nothing but a sure and permanent cure can be the result.

Yours truly,
JNO. S. GEORGE,
Baker and Confectioner.

THE CIBOLA.

All is finished, and at length has come the bridal day.
Of beauty and of strength,
To-day the vessel will be launched!

"Such a beautiful day for the launch!" was the expression on everybody's lips on Tuesday morning. It was, indeed, a beautiful autumnal day, the sun shining brightly, the air clear and bracing. At an early hour of the morning, people began to arrive from all sections of the adjoining country. The Quinte, Varona, N. E. Galt, Deseronto, and many other vessels successively arrived with large parties of excursionists from Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Trenton and many other places on the bay, and the streets, hotels, restaurants, shops, &c., were crowded all forenoon with visitors, all eagerly expectant of the approaching event which had brought them hither. Many put on their hats and coats, and went out in their time visiting the mill and the chemical works, Terra Cotta works, and other industries of The Rathbun Company. The town itself was a holiday appearance, buildings being profusely decorated in all parts of the town and on the vessels in port, while the Cibola was gaily decorated with flags of all the nations.

At 12:30 p. m. the train from the west arrived with a special Pullman car attached containing a party of ladies and gentlemen from Toronto, including among others, Hon. Frank Smith, President; Barlow Cumberland, Vice-President; R. N. McBride, Treasurer; and Niagara Navigation Company; W. J. McNeill, R. St. John, Capt. Dick, Steamboat Inspection Department; J. H. Agnew, J. W. A. Gault, vessel owner; John Donaldson, J. Munroe, Customs Department; Gus Foy, Austin Smith, Fraser MacDonald, and Harold Parsons; Mrs. McNeill, Mrs. Campbell, and Miss Constance Cumberland. The Toronto press was well represented by Messrs. Parkhurst, of The Globe, Lewis, of The Mail, and Mr. Lean, of The World. The Hon. McKenzie Bowell, Minister of Customs, also arrived by the fast train just in time to witness the launch.

After one o'clock the operation of launching the new vessel was commenced in the presence of several thousand spectators who occupied every spot of vantage in the vicinity. A platform had been erected at the bow of the vessel, and this was occupied by the Minister of Customs, Mr. E. W. Rathbun, Hon. Frank Smith, the visitors from Toronto and several others. The honor of christening the new steamer was conferred on Miss Constance Cumberland, of Toronto, who grasped in her hand a bottle of champagne suspended from the bow by a cord decked with red, white and blue ribbons. Under the direction of Messrs. Lamoth and Evans, the various blocks and shores supporting the hull were split and removed, a slight tremor is perceptible, "the starboard moves,"—the seems to lift the thrill of life along her keel." Miss Cumberland dashes the bottle against the bow, and Mr. H. Vallance immediately exposes to view the board with the name "Cibola" painted on it. With increasing speed the new vessel glides down the ways into the water. The bay is filled with the shouts and cheers of the assembled crowd, the waving of handkerchiefs by the ladies, and the noisy whistling of steamers and tug boats. It was a fine launch. The new vessel looked well as she floated gracefully on the bay. The tug Rescue subsequently towed her to the dock where she was inspected by a multitude of visitors.

After the launch the Toronto visitors, the Minister of Customs and several others, were entertained by Mr. E. W. Rathbun. After partaking of a sumptuous luncheon at his residence, toasts were proposed, and a number of appropriate addresses were made by the different members of the party. Mr. Cumberland explained the names of the sister boats, "Chicora" was the old name of the eastern party of Plover, and means "land of flowers"; Cibola was the old name for western Florida, and means "land of the buffalo." The Minister of Customs, in a happy speech, expressed the hope that the event marked the initial step of iron ship building on lake waters. Several of the speakers hinted at the probability of the steel steamers being built at Deseronto in the not distant future. The afternoon was generally observed as a holiday, the streets gay with visitors. The Rathbun Company Band turned out and played in their best style. The day passed off pleasantly the vast crowd behaving in a creditable manner. The launch of the Cibola which took place under such favorable auspices, is an event of no ordinary importance in the history of Deseronto. It marks the beginning of a new epoch in the history of shipbuilding on the lake waters of Canada. That our flourishing town should be selected as the place for the construction of this fine vessel is due to Mr. Bowell, Minister of Customs, who, as a resident of the Bay of Quinte district, was well acquainted with the facilities which the shipyard and extensive works of the Rathbun Company afforded for the prosecution of such an undertaking. The Niagara Navigation Company have no reason to regret their decision to act on his suggestion, the selection having proved satisfactory and advantageous to all concerned.

The Cibola is a paddle steamer of the following dimensions:—extreme length over deck 258 ft.; beam of hold, 11 ft.; breadth of beam, 28 ft. 6 in.; width over all, 31 feet; draught of water, 6 feet 6 inches. She is built throughout of Dalmat steel which is the best known to shipbuilders, every plate being warranted and having the manufacturer's trade mark stamped thereon. We may mention for the information of the general public that the Dalmat steel can only be obtained from the manufacturer, Mr. McNeil, of the Glasgow Steel Company, Scotland. Her model, which is especially designed for stability and speed, is the work of Mr. E. Morten, of Glasgow, the designer of some of the fastest steamers on the Clyde. In consequence of the great power to be exerted by her engines he has given great strength to the deck of the hull. The centre is a network of cellular divisions to form the foundation for the machinery. Five masts and six sails, three fore and aft with six longitudinal braces extending throughout from stem to stern, three on each side, give enormous stiffness to the hull. At the gunwale a shell-plate 32 inches wide, 2 in steel, secured to the frames by steel gussets, extends the whole way around the vessel, and diagonal braces of steel 1 foot wide cross and recross above the deck beams tying everything together. The deck is built with 3½ in. pine, supplied by the Rathbun Co., and is a fine piece of work. The rivets used are 3 in. best Lowmeyer iron, same as used in high-class boilers, and the workmanship throughout is all that could be desired. The hull is built in five compartments by water-tight bulkheads. The engines are the work of Messrs Rankin, Blackmore & Co., of Greenock, who make a specialty of fast, light, and economical engines for the Clyde passenger steamers. They are of the direct action diagonal compound type, having two cylinders, each 25 inches in diameter. These cylinders weigh twelve tons each; experts state them to be the finest specimen of large cylinders ever built, and their privilege to see. In designing these engines Messrs Rankin & Blackmore's effort was to make the machinery as light as possible consistent with ample strength, and to this end a pocket was substituted for the exhaust steam jacket around the high pressure cylinder, thus effecting a considerable saving of weight. The exhaust pipe from the low pressure cylinder is built in place, also made of copper, as against the usual practice of cast iron, and the condenser itself is a cylindrical casting with light malleable iron doors, 15 feet in length, the diagonal bracing. The diagonal bracing is usually of cast iron, but in this instance they are solid-forged, and with 1½ inch bolts for attachment to the main frames. The connecting rods are of the double-joint type fitted with gun metal bushes having extra large bearings. The reversing is done by means of Brown's steam and hydraulic engines, of the latest design, working horizontally from the bed-plate of the main engines. There are two single acting air pumps with Kinchinson's patent metallic valves, so arranged that the various buckets and plungers will serve to pump out the water to a considerable extent, the weights of the high and low pressure cylinders, and do away with the unpleasant jerk noticeable in so many paddle boats. Her running consumption of fuel will be about one and a quarter tons per hour. Her estimated speed will be about 21 miles an hour and her carrying capacity about 1,600. Mr. Webster, the chief engineer of the Niagara Navigation Company, has been in town some days inspecting the machinery, and has been much struck by the machinery necessary before launching, and this gentleman will from time to time watch the progress of the engineering work.

The paddle shafting is all forged of "double wrought" iron for extra strength. The paddle wheels are of the "feathering" description, similar to those on the Chicora. These latter having been the model which has led to their adoption on the recently built fast American paddle steamer, Island, the first week in January to come out and set up the engines, and Mr. Morton, the designer, has been carrying out the coming out to superintend the trial trips.

The designs for the cabin accommodation will give every comfort suggested by the experience of the construction of the Chicora. The winter for their execution, so the steamer will be ready for her route early in May.

She is the largest vessel of her kind ever built in Canada, and will be a heavier and stronger, for example, than the steamers which ply between Montreal and Quebec. The construction of the Cibola was entrusted by the owners, the Niagara Navigation Company, of Toronto, to Mr. W. C. White, ship-builder and boiler manufacturer, of Deseronto, who has been engaged in this department of trade for the last thirty years. Mr. White, who is a native of Scotland, came to this country in 1853. The first year he was engaged in the rebuilding of the stur. Iron Duke at Sorel. He afterwards started business on his own account and built all the iron steamers of the Ontario and Quebec Company with the exception of the Montreal, constructing also the boilers of these vessels. He subsequently started a shop in Montreal where he has charge of building one half of the famous Victoria bridge, having also enjoyed the honor of driving the last rivet with H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, in 1869. About fifteen years ago he concentrated his business in Montreal and has been engaged in many extensive undertakings. He built the stur. Portland for the Ontario and Quebec Company, a steamer, 150 in length, for Mr. Cockburn, of Muskegon; and a composite side wheel steamer for Capt. Murphy, of Toronto. The Comanche, built in England, he cut in two at Montreal brought through the canal and rebuilt at Port Dalhousie. He also cut half three steamers for the C. P. R. Company, put in water tight bulkheads and brought them to Buffalo where they were put together for service on the upper lakes.

The launch of the Cibola which took place under such favorable auspices, is an event of no ordinary importance in the history of Deseronto. It marks the beginning of a new epoch in the history of shipbuilding on the lake waters of Canada. That our flourishing town should be selected as the place for the construction of this fine vessel is due to Mr. Bowell, Minister of Customs, who, as a resident of the Bay of Quinte district, was well acquainted with the facilities which the shipyard and extensive works of the Rathbun Company afforded for the prosecution of such an undertaking. the Rathbun Company. The numerous wharves and railway sidings affording every opportunity for loading and unloading cargo. All vessels, the proximity of the great factories to the shipyard, and the improved machinery and appliances in the shipyard and machine shops, have wonderfully assisted in hastening the work. To Mr. Wm. Evans, superintendent of the Rathbun Company's shipyard, the contractors express themselves as greatly indebted for valuable assistance and continued courtesies. His experience has been placed at their disposal, and in such matters as the speedy and economical handling and shaping of the wood material of the new vessel, the builders are confident that they received from him some place which under great obligations. To the people of this section of Ontario, Mr. Evans has been long known as a shipbuilder, capable and energetic in every sense of the term. It is but right to record the fact that the mechanics employed on the ship, including a number of French Canadians from Montreal, proved themselves skilful and industrious workmen, and have made themselves many friends in Deseronto.

The Niagara Navigation Company in building the Cibola, which is a sister ship to the well known "Chicora," intend placing her next summer on the same route between Deseronto and Lewiston. It is only a matter of justice to the owners of the "Chicora" to state that from the excellence of her arrangements, the strictest care on the part of her officers, combined with marvellous promptness in making her trips has secured her the position of "first favorite" in the eyes of the community. The building of the Cibola is the outcome of the generous patronage bestowed on the "Chicora" by a discriminating public. If the new vessel proves as popular as the "Chicora," there is no doubt that the owners in due season will be able to place the "Chicora" and Mr. A. M. Smith, J. Foy, B. Cumberland, &c., will be considered to have rightly interpreted the public wants, and we only hope that they may be amply rewarded for their large investment of capital.

The placing of such a boat on the Niagara and Toronto route cannot but augment the business of the city in that direction. With the completion of the Murray canal affording a new route for passenger travel, giving tourists an opportunity of surveying the beautiful scenery of the bay of Quinte, thus rendering the trip from Niagara to Quebec one unbroken panorama of all that is beautiful in our country, it is probable that the day is not far distant when floating palaces similar to the Cibola will daily call at the docks of Deseronto. May we not further also express the hope that Deseronto, already through the enterprise of the Rathbun Company the seat of so many industries, may yet become the centre at which yearly shall be built vessels like the Cibola whose every part shall be the product of Canadian skill and labor.

A farmer in Pennsylvania says he has discovered a remedy for the Canadian blight. He has now the contract for building for the time will completely destroy the plant.

GREAT SALE, Bankrupt Stock, —AT— Drewry's.

Special Silk Sale this week at Drewry's!

Silks we talk about this week. Thousands of yards of Silks to choose from. You are not compelled to make your selection of Silk Dresses from five or six pieces. We give you over 300 pieces to choose from. No dry-goods firm could sell 300 pieces of silks bought in the regular way in five years but when they are bought right they sell like Prints. Silks bought in this last bankrupt stock we want to talk about. The best wearing silk Dress you can buy is the Satin Merveilleux. It is soft and pliable and won't crack, neither does it fray up like an ordinary Satin.

NOW THE PRICES:

Five hundred yds. Black Satin Merveilleux worth $1.00, sale price 68c.

See them and you will be convinced it is the greatest bargain in Satin Merveilleux you ever saw. Then at 75c we give you heavy Satin Merveilleux that are sold all over at $1.25. At 60c, at 68c, at 75c, at 89c, at 95c, at $1.00, at $1.10, at $1.19 we show you Satin Merveilleux and every line equally as cheap. At $1.19 we show you Satin Merveilleux that is worth $2.00 a yard regular price. We buy right and that enables us to sell right.

Black Satin at 50c worth $1.00. Golden Brown and Dark Brown Satins at 50c worth $1.00. That means they were bought at 50c on the dollar. Satin Merveilleux in Grenat, Garnet, Brown, Bronze, Navy, Golden Brown just opened in this stock.

Satins at 25 cents.

Cardinal, Blue, Pale Blue, Pink, Cream, White, only 25 cents.

Black Gros Grain Silks at 50c.

Guaranteed pure Silk. Soft and pliable Black Silks that will wear, worth 75c only 50c at Drewry's. Heavy Gros Grain Black Silks 26 inches wide (that is very wide width) only 75c, worth $1.50 per yard! At 95c we show you a Black Silk that will surprise you. At $1.15 we show you Black Silk that is usually sold from $2.00 to $2.25 per yard. Ask to see it when you are in.

Black Ottoman Cord Mantle Silks, Black Tricot Silks, the newest make of Silk Goods. It is knit like Jersey Cloth, just opened, $1.00 per yard under price.

Colored Silks at 50c, worth $1.00.

Grey, Navy, Bronze, Peacock Blue, Marine Blue, Drab, Fawn & Brown Silks, 24 inches wide, pure silk, only 50c, worth $1.00. That means bankrupt stock bought at 50c, on the dollar. That is the reason we are always busy, busy, busy, and the crowds always buying at

Those large Iron Bound Cases in front of the Store last week contained our Fall Importations of British and Foreign Dry Goods, which have been passed through the customs and are now ready for inspection. The diversity of the goods we imported is such as to make it almost impossible to enumerate all the different styles, but we hope to have the pleasure of showing every person, in Deseronto and vicinity our desirable Stock.

DRESS GOODS.

We have given special attention to this Department and will show the most desirable fabrics of English, French, German and American makers. The completeness, freshness and variety of stock afford Ladies the most ample latitude from which to select.

GLOVES and HOSIERY an endless variety. We will sell Ladies' Kid Gloves black and colored at 75c a pair and which cannot be equalled elsewhere for $1.00.

UNDERCLOTHING and TOP SHIRTS must be seen to be appreciated.

In our Tailoring Department, is displayed a variety of fabrics, including the finest of imported goods. Only selected labor is employed, and this coupled with the practical knowledge of Mr. Stoddard, which a life long experience in the business confers, ensures the production of work which is not surpassed by any similar establishment in Canada.

BOOTS & SHOES.

In this department will be found full and complete lines of Infants', Children's, Misses', Women's and Men's Boots and Shoes, purchased from the best manufacturers and selected with great care for the requirements of our patrons.

A distinguished feature of our Establishment is the magnitude of our grocery and provision trade, both wholesale and retail. The extent of our operations gives us every advantage in buying and enables us to offer to our customers inducements in prices and quality which cannot be obtained elsewhere. We respectfully solicit a call from dealers and consumers.

Two Italian 'image' men favoured the town with a visit last week. We observe in the Belleville press that these gentry are suspected of passing counterfeit money on their unsuspecting patrons. Look out for them in future.

Mr. Wm. O'Brien, M. P., amid scenes of great excitement has been safely lodged in Cork goal for three months. It is not the first time that a good man has suffered imprisonment while engaged in fighting for a righteous cause.

The ladies will find something very interesting in the advt. of Robinson & Co., Napanee. This firm are securing a large share of the patronage of the ladies of this district. Their large stock affords opportunities of selection not found in those shops which still adhere to the old fashioned, hole-in-the-corner style of doing business.

The exodus from the lower provinces to the United States assuming colossal proportions this season. It is said to be a piteous sight to watch the crowds of young people leaving each railway station to seek for work in a new land. Now is it only from Quebec and the maritime provinces that this mournful procession proceeds. That Ontario and Manitoba are furnishing their quota. Where is the statesman who can devise a remedy for this growing evil?

A. D. Post, a young man employed in the Cedar Mill, was the victim of a distressing accident on Wednesday evening. He was working at the edge, and reached over the work to get a stick, when his sleeve was caught by the teeth of the roller and his arm was drawn in. He was then pulled to the elbow was fearfully lacerated, the muscles and bones being cut and injured. Dr. Newton attempted to dress the arm putting in no less than forty stitches. The young man showed great bravery, never flinching during the painful operation.

Mr. John Prickett, foreman of the blacksmith shop, was with a serious accident on Monday, a piece of steel from a hammer in the hand of an assistant flying off with great force striking him in the eye. He has been unable to see out of the eye since and it is feared it may be the worse if it is not gotten better. He went to Toronto on Wednesday to consult Dr. Reeves, a distinguished oculist of that city.

There is no other place where you can get the new Columbia Fish Trammings. Any person setting dogs fighting, &c., is liable on a fine of fifty dollars and three months imprisonment.

Mrs. A. A. Richardson and Mrs. James Dryden performed the greatest feat in ticket-selling ever accomplished in Deseronto. It is unnecessary to say that it was in the interest of Mrs. Douglas' Social. They sold seventy tickets in two hours, and 130 in one day.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company have decided to test the new system of heating the cars direct from the locomotive, abolishing the stoves which have been so disastrous to wretched trains. A single valve in the centre of each car regulates the degree of heat. The pipes are also so arranged for the drainage of condensed steam to prevent freezing.

Mr. R. H. Baker has again loaded the Folger with barley for Oswego. He has Mr. R. M. Jack engaged buying barley in large quantities in the neighboring county of Prince Edward. Barley has been coming quite freely under the impulse given by better prices.

On Thursday of last week an unprotected woman was set upon by two vagabonds while on her way to her home on the Reserve, and out of revenge, these apologies for men blackened the poor woman's eye and kicked her badly. One of these rascals works in town and lives in or near Deseronto. It is a disgrace that these blackguards should go unpunished of justice. A coat of tar and feathers might be applied to these scamps to great advantage.

Mr. James Butler, in his capacity as bandman, was invited to Picton to attend the funeral of Mr. John B. B. Butler, a pensioner of that town, who was buried with military honours on Sunday last. All the volunteer militia turned out to pay the last tribute of respect to the old soldier. The bands played funeral marches, and the militia fired volleys over the grave of the departed hero. The proceedings lasted three hours.

Mr. W. G. Egar, President of St. Mark's Guild, is giving an Oyster Supper and Social in aid of that organization. He has fixed the date for Friday evening, 11th inst., and the place St. Mark's Hall. As the President is a very popular fellow, and as in addition the members of the Guild are exerting themselves to provide a programme worthy of the occasion, there will, we are sure, be a great rush to enjoy the many pleasures of the evening. Tickets 25 cts.

Mr. Donald Anderson, of Melrose, honoured our Sanctum with a visit on Tuesday. He has been in Deseronto since he was 18 and was for eighteen years a member of the County Council. While in the Council he was entrusted with the petition for the incorporation of Mill Pond as a village, measure which he carried through successfully. He has witnessed great changes in Deseronto since the time when it was only known as Culbertson's dock.

The parable of the Prodigal Son illustrated in Song drew a large number to the Church of the Redeemer on Sunday evening. The familiar hymns sent home to the heart the truths of the parable and from the earnest attention and hearty singing of the congregation—according the lead of the strong choir, we have no doubt that such a service is unparalleled, and that the good seed of the gospel sown must have its fruits in due time. Another song service will be held in four weeks.

The rector in charge and the parishioners of Ernestown intend to hold, some time in Nov. next, a service, commemorative of the formation of the parish by the Rev. John Langhorn 100 years ago this year. All the clergy of the bay will be invited to take part in the celebration. Mr. Langhorn arrived in Kingston, then called Cataraqui, on Sunday, the 30th of Sept., 1787, and proceeded early in the same week to Ernestown.

ST. MARK'S GUILD.

Grand Oyster Supper and Social.

ON FRIDAY, NOV. 11th, the President, Mr. W. G. Egar, will kindly provide AN OYSTER SUPPER.

In the basement of St. Mark's Church. The proceeds will be devoted to the funds of the Church. An excellent programme has been arranged for the occasion. All welcome. Admission 25 cents.

LADIES.

One lady was overheard saying to another while in our store this week, "Why is it that you do all your trading here?" The reply was, "Because I get so well suited," meaning she was PERFECTLY SATISFIED with all her purchases from us. Such testimonies as these are encouraging, and there are thousands of people in these counties who are able to tell you the same thing. We are doing an honest, straightforward business, and you can rely on receiving the most courteous treatment. As we told you last week we do not carry a bankrupt stock and consequently do not have a lot of shoddy goods to palm off on you, instead of genuine honest goods. In our advertisements we tell you as well as we can about our goods and prices. If you would take the trouble to inquire you will find that we have goods on our shelves at prices to correspond with our advertisements. Although our purchase of Fall Dress Goods was large we are already making further purchases. This week we have made a special purchase of 1,500 yards of all wool French Dress Goods in all the leading shades. We have marked them at 27 1/2c. per yard, but they are fully equal to goods other houses will charge you 35c. for. Ask to see them. Meltons, we have a fine line at 12 1/2c. per yard; coarser goods at 8c. and 10c. per yard. English Dress Cloths in large variety. French Dress Cloths in large variety. Fancy plaid suitings, Tweed effects, etc. Our trade in this department is steadily on the increase. Miss Allison and her large staff of hands find it almost impossible to turn the orders out fast enough. It is quite impossible to make up outside work. We guarantee every garment made in our establishment to give entire satisfaction.

FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT.

In this department we have made some special purchases of Goods which are just to hand this week. A line of Black Kid Gloves in all sizes which we are selling at 68c. per pair; these goods are equal to the regular lines at $1. per pair. Ask to see them. A full range of ladies' Underwear. We still keep on hand a full supply of three and four coil wire bustles, Jerseys, Tuques, Fascinators, Clouds, Wollen Shawls, etc.

REGENTS.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

Sir,—We are sorry for not producing at the recent demonstration the wampum belts concerning Indian affairs from the foundation of the original five United Indian Confederacy, but we are thinking to have another wampum demonstration sometime next year. We will prepare for the coming demonstration early next spring. We are going to invite all the Six Nation Chiefs that reside in the United States. We would like to show the public that we have the wampum treaties and covenant chain belt and the silver pipe of peace, and also the United belt that combine the Six United Indian Confederacy.

The Iroquois confederacy of the five nations as illustrative of the capacity of the Indians for government was a marvel, all things considered. It was composed of five distinct nations, namely, Mohawks, Seneca, Oneida, Onondaga, Cayugas. The five nations are subdivided into tribes, each having its heraldic insignia, but the Iroquois Indians were not divided into the confederacy in the year 1713, thus forming the sixth nation. That is our reason that we do not wish to be disunited from the notable confederacy, but some of our Indian fellow subjects are apt to believe the ancient system of installing chiefs, but I were as follows:—Sho-ri Hope, $3,723.95; Judge Lader, as Surrogate Judge $290.30; S. S. Lader, local master and deputy registrar, $2,616; G. E. Hume of our Indian court attorney and clerk of the peace, $1,497.44; A. G. Northrup, dep. Clerk of the Crown, County Clerk and Surrogate Registrar, $2,090.83.

The Tribune from now until January 1st, 1889, for $1.00, if paid in advance.

Department of Railways and Canals.

Ottawa, May 7th, 1887.

Messrs. Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont. Gents,—I am very glad to give you to-day the testimony that "Naal Balm" has completely cured my catarrh from which I have suffered for nearly three years.

Yours very truly,
L. D. DION,

Bloomfield, Carleton Co., N.B., May 7th, 1887.—I wish to inform you that I have been a sufferer from catarrh for a long time and have continually tried so-called remedies and catarrh cures, but all to no purpose. At last I heard of Naal Balm and was induced to try that. To my astonishment I found relief from first application, and now after two weeks use feel myself perfectly and thoroughly cured.

Yours very truly,
HANFORD WOLHAMPTER,
General Merchant.

OFFICIAL VISIT AND CONFIRMATION.

His Lordship Bishop Cleary paid an official visit to Napanee last week, for the purpose of holding confirmation and of observing the progress that is being made, and of giving the encouragement of his presence, his council and advice to priest and people. He arrived by the one-twenty train on Wednesday, being on his return from a large service to London, and he was assembled at the station to participate in the reception to His Lordship. As the train entered the 47th Battalion Barracks played a melody of pipe music, after which a procession was formed. His Lordship and Fathers McDonagh and Walsh occupying a carriage drawn by a team of four horses, which came the band and about fifty other girls. The procession passed down John street to Dundas, thence to West street, and up West street to their church, and also the appreciation they have of the indefatigable labors and unceasing interest which His Lordship Bishop Cleary shows in the welfare of his people in all parts of the diocese. At the church His Lordship simply gave the congregation his episcopal blessing and holding the processional cross, and during his visit. The Bishop was then escorted to the residence of Father McDonagh, who with his usual hospitality, had prepared a most exquisite spread. Father Hartington of Centerville, and Father Walsh, of Trenton, were also his invited guests.

On Thursday, at 10 a.m., the Bishop celebrated High Mass, at which the ceremony of confirmation was performed, about fifty candidates from Napanee and Deseronto presenting themselves for the sacrament. His Lordship congratulated the Priest of the Parish, Father McDonagh, and the teachers, for the careful manner in which the candidates had been instructed. He said that it afforded him peculiar pleasure to find the children so intelligent, and to observe how well they understood the doctrine inculcated in the lessons set for their instruction. He said the entire class showed evidence of careful training, which was alike creditable to their Priest, their teachers and their parents. In addressing the candidates he urged upon them the importance of faithfully and habitually discharging their daily religious duties as Catholics, not only in regard to the welfare of their souls, but for its influence upon their success and happiness in this life. To the parents he pointed out the duty of training their children in the lessons of the church, and in their duties as members thereof. He pointed out the importance of guarding the children from temptations from bad companionship, and especially from impure literature. His address was earnest and practical, and was such as might have been heard with profit by parent or child. The services throughout were exceedingly solemn and impressive. During the afternoon His Lordship visited the congregation in Richmond, returning to Napanee at 6 p.m. He remained over until Friday before proceeding to Kingston. The Bishops stay here was made very pleasant by the kind attentions of Priest and parishioners.—Napanee Banner.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Carpenters and masons are rushing another large extension to the Terra Cotta Works.

A crossing for the convenience of pedestrians has been laid down in front of The Tribune office.

Mr. Thomas Gault, fishery overseer in this section, is on the alert these times to prevent illegal fishing.

Buy your school books, pencils, ink, and stationery at The Tribune Office. They are cheaper there than elsewhere.

The Rathbun Company Band desire through our columns to thank the public for the generous patronage accorded to them on the occasion of their recent concert.

The six largest jurisdictions in the A. O. U. W. Order, as regards membership, are New York 25,838; Illinois, 13,935; Missouri, 19,297; California, 17,677; and Ontario, 13,336.

On Sunday next Nov. 13th, the Rev. W. H. Smythe, of Wellington, will preach in St. Mark's church morning and evening.

The Rev. gentleman is expected to be present at the Oyster Supper this evening.

The following prices are offered by St. Mark's Guild to the young men who are called in selling the largest number of tickets, viz:—1 Plain Satchel, $4.00; 1 Pair Vases, $2.00; 1 Leather Satchel, $1.00.

Deseronto should have a canning factory. Why do not our local capitalists form a joint stock company and start such an industry? It would be far more profitable than investing it in houses to be crated. It would help to build up the town.

The Kingston election trial will take place on Dec. 6th.

The Tribune from now until January 1st, 1889, for $1.00 paid in advance.

Engine, No. 3, of the B. of Q. Ry. is in the shops getting repairs, her place being taken by No. 1, N. T. & Q. Ry.

A handsome railing from the Barrow Wire Works has been added to the outfit of Mr. Knack's comfortable office at the Cedar Mill.

A Bible Class has been formed in connection with the Methodist Congregation. It meets in the Church every Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. A. Campbell conducts the class and all who choose to attend will be welcome.

Last Sabbath evening Rev. R. J. Craig, a series of lectures on "Ruth," a large congregation being present on the occasion. The second lecture of the course will be delivered next Sunday evening. Seats free, strangers cordially invited.

Miss Macgregor, a missionary at Indore, Central India, will address a meeting in the lecture room of the Presbyterian Church, on the evening of Tuesday, 15th inst. She is a pleasant speaker, and will give an interesting account of the manners and customs of our Indian fellow subjects. She will show the costumes worn by the people and exhibit some idols and other relics of idolatry. Admission free. The public are invited to attend.

We regret to learn that Mr. Allan Stirling met with a serious accident while on his way to Montreal. On Wednesday, 2nd inst., he slipped and fell, breaking his leg below the knee. The fracture was successfully treated, and he is progressing as favorably as could be expected. Mrs. Stirling arrived shortly after and is remaining with him in Montreal, where a railway company kindly and attention from Mr. Torrance and other good friends in that city.

Application will be made at the next session of the Dominion Land Office for the Cullingswood and Bay of Quinte Railway Company. The proposed line will run from Cullingswood to the Bay of Quinte, through the County of Ontario, intersecting the G. T. R. C. P. & N. and Northern, and thence direct to the Bay of Quinte. The promoters of the scheme are Messrs. Charles Macdonell, Thos. Long, J. Long, Charles Cameron, Charles Gammage, Charles Stephens, George Moberly, David Fleming and Dr. Stephens. Mr. Moberly's extensive railway commission will doubtless be of much benefit to the new syndicate.

Don't forget the oyster supper in St. Mark's Hall, 8th.

JOSEPH BRANT, aged 22, of the Indian Reserve, has been injured of late in a fall, which shows that he possesses talents that would enable him to shine as a statesman of finance. In the 2nd inst., he brought in 6 bushels 23lbs. of barley to Mr. R. H. Baker's warehouse, giving his name as Jacob Brant, son of Mr. Thos. Taylor, who in Mr. Jack's absence, was on duty at the warehouse, gave an order on the order provided for the purpose for payment at the office of John McCullough, Esq., where Mr. Baker transacts his money matters. This order Brant changed by merely paying the figure 8 to the quantity sold, thus making it read 86 bush. 23lbs. The next day he brought in 4 bush. 12lbs. of peas, for which he also received an order. This he "doctored" in the same way, making it read 84 bush. 11lbs. The order was presented to Mr. McCullough who, thinking them genuine, cashed them accordingly, paying him the sum of $96.00. Mr. McCullough remarked that it was a big load of peas, but Brant told him the amount represented two loads. On Saturday Mr. Baker was checking the order book and found the fraud had been committed. In the meantime Brant, with the sudden possession of so much wealth, instead of following the usual practice in this district of investing his capital in a vacant building lot or a cheap tenement house, had been out on his money into circulation, buying goods with great profligacy at the Big Store and other places of trade, until it was practically all gone. The Chief and R. M. Jack proceeded to his home on the reserve, where he was arrested on Saturday evening and placed in the lock-up to await his trial on Wednesday morning. Here he remained faring impatiently at the expense of the Indian Department until Tuesday afternoon. About 3 o'clock the Chief put on a fire and saw everything secure prior to setting out for the reserve where he was summoned on other duties. The prisoner immediately set to work to effect an escape. An easy matter as he soon discovered. About half past the side of the door an iron bolt passed through an iron plate and into the wall of his cell, being held in place by a nut on the outside. Brant unscrewed the nut, drew out the bolt which had been driven in so long, and using it as a lever forced the lock, thus getting out of the cell into the passage. One powerful kick broke open the door and he was free. He then went to the hall, lifted a window and began his journey to the land of the setting sun, from which he generally hoped he will never return. Some are of opinion that he was aided by friends in effecting his escape, but this is problematical. It is seen he is a bold offender, as he spent three years in the reformatory at Penetanguishene where his character was one of the best. About a month ago he also took an order book from the warehouse with the intention, no doubt, of using it for dishonest purposes. We learn that his recent restoration to good purchase with the money and otherwise made good the loss. The moral of this story is: grab buyers and sellers more in writing out their orders more fully, and our corporation must provide a lock-up much more secure than it now possesses.

HOUSEHOLD.

THE CHIEF FARM KITCHEN.

A spacious farm kitchen, when there's a clean and loving mother presiding over it, is about as pleasant as any spot on earth. The great stove with its cheerfully glowing kettle, the smooth polished floor, the braided rug for mother's feet, the dear little squeaking rocking chair in which she sits and sews, the geraniums and petunias and other eye-catching plants in the windows, the big long table with plenty of room for everybody and some to spare, on which are served such meals as only "mother" can prepare. Ah! we are sorry for the poor child that does not get a life-time start in such a room. It is to this big, pleasant, comfortable kitchen that the children can look for comfort and pleasure in this growing, November weather. There is school, to be sure, but night sets in almost as soon as school closes, and in the hours between four o'clock and bedtime something must be done for the child whose natural, healthful life is for "something to do."

HOW TO MAKE GOOD APPLE BUTTER.

The first step is to boil down the cider. If there is not so much, large kettles are hung upon an extemporized wooden crane in these, new cider is concentrated by boiling. For the best results, the cider is boiled down to eight gallons. While the cider is being boiled, other preparations are made, by paring and coring the apples, and removing the cores. Good sweet apples, those which will readily cook tender are chosen. Two and a half to three bushels of apples are required for the barrel of cider, after it has been concentrated, and the stirring, with a wooden stirrer (hickory preferred), must be continued to prevent scorching. The thick jelly-like consistency shows when the boiling is sufficient. When the sauce is removed from the fire, many add cinnamon and allspice. The sauce is to be transferred, while yet hot, to the vessel in which it is to be kept; these should be wooden kegs or barrels, or stoneware jars. Apple butter is sometimes made without cider, using molasses and water instead. When properly made it is a most healthful preservative, and very much healthful than that which is cloying from an excess of sugar.—(American Agriculturist.)

BOILING VEGETABLES.

Onions, medium size one hour.
Green corn, twenty to twenty-five minutes.
Peas and asparagus, thirty to twenty-five minutes.
Potatoes, half an hour, unless small, when rather less.
Cabbage and cauliflower, twenty-five minutes to half an hour.
Carrots and turnips, forty-five minutes when young, one hour in winter.
Beets, one hour in summer, one hour and a half or even two hours, if large, in winter.
String beans, if sliced or sliced and water, thirty minutes.

Rule.—All vegetables to go into salt boiling water, to be brought to a rolling boil again, not left to steep in the water before boiling, which toughens them and destroys color and flavor.

The time table must always be regulated by the hour at which the meal will be done. If the meat should have to wait five minutes for the vegetables, there would be a loss of punctuality, and the meat would be damaged. But if your vegetables are done, and wait for the meat, your dinner will certainly be much the worse; yet so general is the custom of over-boiling vegetables or putting them to cook in a haphazard way, somewhere about the time, that very many people do not recognize the damage. They would rather trust to the superiority of vegetable cooked at just the right time, but would attribute it to some superiority of vegetable itself, that they were fresher and finer, not knowing that the best and freshest of vegetables improperly cooked are little better than the poor ones.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

To wash oil cloth with milk and water. Soap injures the texture and the color. Use a quart of skim milk to a gallon of water. Salt sprinkled on a carpet, then swept off, it is said, brightens the color. Sometimes a cloth浸ed in salt water is used to wipe off the carpet after sweeping.

A HOUSEKEEPER'S FRIEND.—A large wall bag to a housekeeper is a desk full of pigeonholes into the business man. It is a large piece of strong, gray cloth with a dozen pockets sewed on, on each pocket a written in plain letters with ink the contents; for instance buttons, trunks, ribbons, brackets, curtain rings, etc.

THE SHIRKAGE OF FLANNEL.—To keep flannels as much as possible from shrinking and felting, the following is to be recommended: Dissolve one ounce of potash in a bucket of water, and leave the fabric in it for twelve hours. Next warm the water with the fabric in it, and wash without rubbing, also draw through repeatedly. Next immerse the flannel in another liquid containing one teaspoonful of wool flour to one bucket of water, and wash in the same manner. Thus treated the flannel becomes nice and clean, has barely shrunk, and almost not at all felted.

TO CLEAN WHITE SILK LACE.—The lace is sewn over small clean slips of wood to keep it evenly spread out, laid over in warm milk, to which a little soap has been added, rinsed in clear water, and the same length of time in warm soap suds, and finally rinsed without any friction. Then lay the lace flat, covering the outside of the lace with a piece of white cloth, and roll gently in towels dipped in rice water, and rolled again. Finally, the damp lace is unfoldered from the bottle and ironed between Indian cloths.

When Her Majesty accepted the throne the production of cloth that year in Great Britain was estimated at 35,000,000 tons, now it is more than four times as much.

ODDS AND ENDS.

In Russia 255,000 persons are engaged in the tobacco industry.
The consumption of petroleum by England in 1886 was about 2,250,000 barrels.
There are in Boston between 800 and 900 negroes, and there were more than 100,000 in the British Crown.

From twenty-five to forty car loads of grapes and pears are shipped from California to the East.

It is said that Russia will have 40,000,000 bushels of wheat for export this year, an increase of 16,000,000 bushels over last year.

The women of Russia do all the harvesting; the grain is cut with sickles, as it was 3,000 years ago, and is threshed with a flail.

A restaurant has been opened in London for the exclusive patronage of people who are afflicted with corpulence, the food being entirely anti-fat.

The buyer of a large Cincinnati tobacco house, who is said $10,000 a year to know good tobacco when he sees it, neither smokes nor chews.

The art of paper making has reached a point where a tree may be cut down, made into paper, and turned out as a newspaper in thirty-six hours.

At Kienchen, in the Austrian Alps, there is an intermittent lake which at one season of the year is filled with water, at another is dried up and cultivated by the farmers of the exclusive patronage of people who are afflicted with corpulence, the food being entirely anti-fat.

At the foot of the evergreens clothing the land, grew a dense mass of tangled bushes and vines, and at the roots of these was a carpet of mossy lichens and ferns, which often ran up the trees to a height greater than a man's reach.

All this dense growth is as moist as a sponge. The thick carpeting of moss extends from the shore to the edges of the glaciers on the mountain summits, and the constant melting of ice brings down the snow keeps it saturated with water. The air is burdened with moisture, and everything is, like Mr. Mantalini's proposed body, "moist and unpleasant."

It is almost impossible to realize the dampness of this region, without having experienced it. Water drips from overhead, like an April mist, and oozes up beneath the feet, as one walks.

As an example of the luxuriance of the vegetation, we take the Indian's "totem-poles," which, although they are dead timbers standing on end near the native houses, bear huge clumps of dripping moss, and the weight of which varies from ten to thirty feet from the ground.

It will be well to explain, in passing, that these totem-poles are covered with very various carvings, and are, in fact, the all sorts of their significance, it is probable that they represent genealogies, or tribal histories of the Indians.

It is a curious fact that the seed of a Siberian spruce becomes lodged in the tangle of moss resting upon a totem-pole, and there germinates, and grows, and finally, having reached the top, it sends down its branches flourishing above, and which have their roots in the moss.

Imagine a city boy toasting a walnut from his window, so that it lodges upon a totem-pole, and the next year there are seeds down its roots to the earth, and waxed into such a tall tree that the boy can lean from his window, and pick walnuts from its every autumn.

That idea is incredible, and yet its equivalent often happens in south-eastern Alaska.

No Danger.

A man who boasts of his courage while his knees are smiting together at a ridiculous figure, and is a fair subject for jokes. A traveler in the American West, in a wood such as one in the midst of a thunder-storm. According to the narrative, the lightning might have been caused for feeling a little timorous; only, in that case, it would have been well to brag.

When I was a boy, he said, "I, too, was afraid of thunder and lightning; but since that time I have studied philosophy!" and our professor has taught us that the heavenly bodies are too high up to fall down upon us. Another chap—Jean Orloff, major's private.

The next stroke drove the trembling pair into a dark room, where the women found refuge, and as long as the storm lasted we heard their voices crying "Ora pora nobis!" but scarcely had it passed away, when the philosophical curate entered, and began to lecture on the danger, followed by the widow and her daughters.

"Juan," he called to a boy who was passing by, "do quickly by my mother and tell her she need not be frightened, there is no danger at all."

Buffalo William makes no secret of his intense desire to raise the wild Indian war whoop and break glass balls within the walls of the family, and he is, in fact, a very much of it as remains. If this be carried out it will be a strange illustration of Canada's desire to bring in the New World to the old world, and the Old World to the Indians carrying round an area sacred to memories of the greatest empire of the past, the king of the world, the place of the ground which elsewhere received the blood of martyrs, and "American ice cream" hawked round the galleries where emperors and tribes have sat.

FARM.

WINTER CARE OF COWS.

The arrangement of the barn and yard should be such that the cow can have as much as possible. Excessive warmth is not conducive to robustness, health or profit. The cow should be kept in a cool, dry place, with a temperature of eighty degrees, and his food and drink are all the more important.

The effects of the cold and to insure more comfort, the dwellers in that house will become more robust, and the blood will be kept in the blood; the warmth will relax the skin, dry it and open the pores, and the slightest draft will cause it of shivering and induce dangerous colds. It is in precisely such cases that cow throats, diphtheria, and scalds, and other diseases are so frequent, while in the winter the windows are thrown open to the breeze, and the cold, bristly, pure air is welcomed, and exercise and health give warmth, fed by the abundant oxygen of the fresh air coursing through the blood, there are health and vigor and some rest. It is the same in the dairy. Pneumonia invades those herds which are kept in close, warm, unwholesome stables, and the result tuberculosis, and its prey, while from the wide airy stable well ventilated and filled with pure cold air, the well fed cows will emerge to frolic in the sun, and the milk will be of a fine quality, and the milk and the cream, when the thermometer marks down nearly to zero. Excessive warmth is not conducive to robustness, health or profit.

It is in precisely such cases that cow throats, diphtheria, and scalds, and other diseases are so frequent, while in the winter the windows are thrown open to the breeze, and the cold, bristly, pure air is welcomed, and exercise and health give warmth, fed by the abundant oxygen of the fresh air coursing through the blood, there are health and vigor and some rest. It is the same in the dairy. Pneumonia invades those herds which are kept in close, warm, unwholesome stables, and the result tuberculosis, and its prey, while from the wide airy stable well ventilated and filled with pure cold air, the well fed cows will emerge to frolic in the sun, and the milk will be of a fine quality, and the milk and the cream, when the thermometer marks down nearly to zero. Excessive warmth is not conducive to robustness, health or profit.

The effects of the cold and to insure more comfort, the dwellers in that house will become more robust, and the blood will be kept in the blood; the warmth will relax the skin, dry it and open the pores, and the slightest draft will cause it of shivering and induce dangerous colds. The Tribune

FRIDAY, NOV. 11, 1887.

MILLTOWN.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Once again the banner of the busy workman is heard in our midst and our way bridge puts on a new appearance. Mr. John Fox and his gang of painters are busy painting both inside and outside of the bridge. Mr. Ford and his wife are paying their farewell visit to friends in this place before leaving for their home in the golden city.

Mrs. Joseph Pennick has returned home after enjoying a long visit with friends in Michigan.

Mrs. Smith and her mother, Mrs. Warden of Syracuse are visiting at Mr. Pennick's.

Miss Sarah Hennick, of Harpeth, is visiting her cousin, Demott Appleby.

MELROSE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

We are glad to learn that Miss S. Osborne is speedily recovering from a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

Our little village can boast of some good marksmen. A few weeks ago, at the annual Rifle Match of the 2nd Battalion, held in Belleville, Mr. N. H. Demill, of this place, made the highest score, and last Friday Mr. Wm. Munnell was successful in obtaining four targets at a shooting match held at Mr. Meagher's.

The Literary Society will give an entertainment in their hall on Friday evening, Nov. 25th. This will be the fifth entertainment that has been given since the Society was started all of which have proved highly successful, from a glance at the programme which consists of Dialogues, Magic Lantern Scenes, Singing, &c. I feel confident that this will surpass any of the previous ones given. Admission ten cents.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. O'Hare, widow of the late James O'Hare died on the 22nd of last month at her mother's residence on the 8th. She was 84 years of age and had been in failing health and has left a young family to mourn her loss. On the 24th inst., her mortal remains were laid to rest in St. Charles Cemetery.

There was a shooting match at Mr. John Meagher's, Bachelor's Walk, last Friday when some of our local and neighboring marksmen distinguished themselves. The score had not reached us at the time of writing.

Several cracking machines have already commenced work and several new ones are about to run which will interfere to a considerable extent with the millers. Last year prices were brought down pretty low and no doubt this fall will again be depressed.

News is very scarce in this part of the world and as a consequence your correspondence from this point is necessarily brief.

LONSDALE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

We are having beautiful weather for this time of the year, quite a number of the farmers have finished fall ploughing and are taking their barley to market and if this pleasant Indian summer and good weather continue a few days longer the most of the grain will be sold, they will then have a rest from their labors and will no doubt give many orders for the Tribune to pursue those long evenings.

Deseronto still continues to draw our citizens from us and none of our old and much esteemed residents in the person of Mrs. Seasmith and family has left us and gone to that town. They have our best wishes.

Mr. James McGinnis of this place and Miss Bridget Kenny, of Napanee, were married on Monday and with the bride's father and sister are moving into Mrs. Seasmith's home.

Report says about one union are close at hand. Hurry up boys it may soon be rough weather.

Mr. Lazier has started his woolen mill and we again hear the sound of steam and machinery.

The water still continues as low as we ever knew it here in the river, and water is hard to obtain for family use, the principal wells being dry.

KINGSFORD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Right Rev. Bishop Cleary held a visitation of the congregation of St. Patrick's Church, 7th concession of Richmond, on Thursday the 3rd inst. His Lordship arrived in Napanee on Wednesday, and on Thursday morning administered the Sacrament of Confirmation. In the afternoon His Lordship left for Richmond, and was not at Forest Mills by a large delegation in buggies and carriages, who accompanied him to the church. This being the Bishop's first visit to Richmond, His Lordship graciously received a number of the congregation, and imparted his episcopal benediction. After devotional exercises the Bishop presided at the business of the visitation, making minute enquiries after all matters pertaining to the welfare of the congregation, especially the schools, and the instruction given to the children. At the conclusion of these enquiries His Lordship addressed the congregation in his usual happy, terse and forcible style. His Lordship who was accompanied by the Rev. Father McDonough and the Rev. Father Kelly, his secretary, left for Napanee at 4:30. The people were much pleased at the episcopal visit, and no doubt the happiest results will follow. The church grounds were tastefully arranged and planted with evergreen, and the first visitation of St. Patrick's will long be remembered.

Miss Sarah McCullough, who has been visiting her sister near Brighton for some weeks, has returned home.

The numerous patrons of the Empey Hill Cheese Factory will be glad to learn that Mr. Brennan will have charge of the factory next season.

Mrs. Denis O'Connor, of South Fredericksburg, was visiting Mrs. James McElroy last week.

Mrs. Edward O'Connor, of Tyonsdale, Penn., is visiting her friends in this neighborhood.

A large number of our residents were present at the launch of the "Cibola" last week.

Although the farmers were so late in commencing ploughing this fall a very large acreage has been ploughed.

Miss Nellie Brennan, of Albert, who has been visiting her brother at Empey Hill for some time, has returned home.

Mr. DeMores has been hunting with a party for two weeks has returned. The party were very successful in their hunting, and in one day killed six deer.

The Richmond Council met at Selby on Monday, and we hope they took some action regarding the erection of a fence or wooden railing on the north and south hills of this village.

TYENDINAGA RESERVE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

John P. Brant on the western end of the Reserve, is making important improvements on his premises.

The Rev. E. Atkinson, curate of St. Mark's, Deseronto, assisted the missionary in the service at All Saints Church on Sunday the 6th inst., and preached a sermon which was much appreciated by the large congregation.

John A. Loft attended All Saints on Sunday, and after the service he was during the service offered thanksgiving for recovery from his late severe illness.

The delegates deputed to spy out the land offered in Muskoka, returned on Monday, and will make a full report at a general council to be held in the Council House, on Wednesday the 16th inst.

The 8th of November dinner, which took place at the residence of Simon Hill, was not well patronized. Chief George might have made a haul had he put in an appearance.

On Tuesday last Mrs. Joseph Fieord led a party who took possession of the new Furze, on the afternoon of Thursday the 17th inst., at which the Building Committee, whose term of office will then expire, will be happy to see their friends.

Supper which will be provided by the ladies of the Reserve, will be served at 5 p. m. after which music and speeches will be in order. By special request Mrs. Anderson will sing "Home, Sweet Home" during the evening.

It is proposed to hold a social and "At Home" in the new Christ Church Parsonage, on the afternoon of Thursday the 17th inst., at which the Building Committee, whose term of office will then expire, will be happy to see their friends.

WHAT AM I TO DO?

The symptoms of Biliousness are unpleasant but too well-known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently also, he has an excellent appetite for liquids but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly be in speciation at any time; it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events.

The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhoea or Constipation may be a symptom or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be indigestion and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this if not effect a cure try Green's August Flower, it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

THE CHEERFUL FARM KITCHEN.

A spacious farm-kitchen, when there's a clean looking mother presiding over it, is about as pleasant as any spot on earth. The great stove with its cheerfully singing kettle, the smooth painted floor, the braided rug for mother's feet, the dear little squeaking rocking chair in which she sits and sews, the geraniums and petunias and other easy-growing plants in the windows, the big long table and plenty of room for everybody and some to spare—such a kitchen is served such meals as only "mother" can prepare. Ah! we are sorry for the poor child that does not get a life start in such a room! It is to this big, pleasant-atmosphere kitchen that the children can find for comfort and pleasure in this growing November weather.

There is school to be sure, but night rest in almost as soon as school closes, and in the hours between four o'clock and bedtime something must be done for the child which natural, healthful cry is for "something to do."

The American Agriculturist for November.

Always buy goods from the man who advertises. His goods are always the cheapest and newest. He doesn't allow his stock to lie around on shelves until it goes out-fashioned while he watches through his window to see who goes to buy his more energetic neighbor.

He sells quickly and buys again.

The wire for the new telephone line between Napanee and Tamworth was strung in three days. There are offices at Newburgh, Camden East, Yarker, Enterprise and Tamworth.
A Napanee man recently went to New York and bought $2,000 of "good money" for $250. He saw the box expressed for Utica, but when he reached Utica he found nothing there for him. He had to borrow money to pay his way home.
The Belleville Ontario tells of a brutal fight which occurred at a dance held at John Caldon's in the 9th concession of Tyndinaga. Liquor was freely drunk and the result was a rough and tumble fight of the most sickening description. The contestants fought like bulldogs and committed acts of cannibalism which will disgrace one or two of the men for life. One of the Alford's, who was sitting on a chair drunk, got a bad thrashing, being kicked back and forth. One of the Jordans had his cheek chewed into mince meat, while one of the Goodfellow's suffered a like penalty. The whole affair made a capital temperance lecture.

STORIES OF ANIMAL LIFE.

WELL-BRILLED ANTS.

Ants appear to have their motto, "In union there is strength." They set the best regulated tunnel in the world in the soil, maintaining a wonderful degree of drill and discipline, by means of which they are enabled to take up the work of the ant, which is a very minute insect, and carry a load of food, or a dead, full-grown scorpion up a beam of our room from the floor to the ceiling, and then along the under surface of a wall to a considerable distance, where, at last, they brought it safely into their nest in the interior of the earth.

During the latter part of this achievement, they had to bear the whole weight of the scorpion, together with their own in their inverted position, and in this way to move along the beam. The order was so perfect that we could not detect the slightest deviation from an absolute symmetry, either in the arrangement of the little army of workmen, or in their movements.

No corps of engineers could be drilled to a more absolute perfection in the performance of a mechanical task. According to a rough calculation, there must have been five or six hundred of these intelligent little creatures at work.

Besides those engaged in the transportation, no other work was going on. The scorpion was sitting on the sting at the end of the scorpion's tail, as if stationed there to overlook and direct the whole proceeding; and all the rest, without an exception, were at work.

FOND OF THE PIG.

Not long ago a French steamer, the Arctis, trading from Havre, was wrecked in the Straits of Magellan, but the passengers were saved. A monkey named Felix was rescued and taken possession of by a farmer who lived near Punta Arenas, and was carried to his rescuer's farm.

Almost all the other animals that he found there were the farmer's pigs, about forty in number, great and small, and to these Felix took a very strong liking.

He played and sported with them, and followed them wherever they went, riding on the back of one or another of them.

The herd of pigs, attracted by their will about the farm, and whether it rained or snowed, whether it was hot or cold, and even in summer there were some very cold winds at the Straits of Magellan, always set out in the morning on the back of one of his favorites.

At evening he drove the pigs home, performing this duty much better and more swiftly than a man could have done it. If any one attempted to catch one of the pigs, Felix flew into a rage. No criers of cakes and sweetmeats would tempt him to leave the herd and enter his master's house.

Winter came at last, and as, at this season, the primitive farmers of the region make no provision for their wine, the pigs left the buildings and lived in a perfectly wild state. Cold had been accompanied by rain, but when they were brought up in the spring he had disappeared. He had, without a doubt, died of cold.

A POLITE MONKEY.

The following pretty incidents related in the Irish Times about a monkey and a dog, again illustrating the strange likenesses, even among animals.

A brave, active, intelligent terrier, belonging to a lady friend, once discovered a monkey, belonging to the same lady, organ-grinder, seated upon a bank within the grounds, and at once made a dash for him. The monkey, with a shrug, a sneer, and a hat, awaited the onset in such undisturbed tranquility that the dog halted within a few feet of him to reconnoitre.

Both animals took to the steady stare at each other, but the dog eventually was recovering from his surprise, and about to make a spring for the intruder.

At this critical juncture, the monkey, who had remained perfectly quiet hitherto, raised his paw and gracefully saluted by lifting his hat.

The effect was magical. The dog's head and tail dropped, and she sneaked off into the house, refusing to leave until his polite but mysterious guest had departed.

ACUTE PERCEPTION.

An English writer observes that the sense of hearing in some of the lower animals is so acute, and discriminating as that of small insects. A thrush has been seen to listen for worms, and very evidently to hear them, too, though within two yards of a noisy lawn mower; while robins appear to be able to distinguish the voices of their own offspring and parents from a number of others, and at a great distance. It is suggested that such cases indicate the "exclusive direction of the attention of a sense" rather than mere keenness.

A DOG STORY.

An exchange says: The other day our Newfoundland dog was playing on the porch with our little girl, when she came and opened the gate and went out. The dog did not follow her. Sometime afterward the child's mother came out, discovered her absence, and said to the dog, "Where is Nellie?" The dog looked as if he knew, and wagged his tail furiously. "Go this instant," said the mother, "and find Nellie and bring her home."

Out over the gate flew the dog and started down the street to a neighbor's house not far off. Nellie was playing there, inside the house, and saw the dog come and scratch at a veranda window.

"I know what you want," said the little girl; "he wants me to go home, but I'm not going to do that."

The dog was so limited, but he lingered near, like Mary's little lamb, and when two ladies called recently he brushed in past them through the door. Then, rushing up to Nellie, he feigned to play with her, and began dragging her to the door. An attempt was made to drive him off, but he growled and barked. What the little girl, beginning to be frightened, gave up all resistance and trotted home by his side, and he delivered her with an air of triumph into her mother's hands. What a fine instinct would lead a dog to that?

HE SURVIVED.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press furnishes evidence of a pathetic creature, showing that dogs, like human beings, can get the blues and come to the consolation of ending their troubles in death:

That a dog tired of the carping cares of life and the anxiety of it can take to itself a deadly committed suicide is no longer to be doubted. A yellow cur with a watery eye, and a half-mast walked on the streets of a Northwestern motor. He tracked the other day with an air of calm despair. His muzzle was thin and nearly clover-like. In the middle of the counterpane, he was seen; his hair was coarse and dirty. No traits were in sight as he looked up and down the street, and he was off the rambling of one approaching. Looking up to the blue sky, glowing with the first warm rays of the sun, he seemed to be looking at the distant woods the scent of columbine and violets, feeling the thrill of soft spring through his whiskers, he deliberately lay down on the roadway, with his head across one rail, and closed his eyes. Apparently he was sleeping. The train drew nearer and nearer, but he was not wavered. The rails trembled beneath him, the ground was shaken, there was a roaring in his ears, and he could almost feel the hot breath of his destroyer; but he was determined. Feebly raising his tail and wagging it slowly as a last farewell to earth, he commenced to stir the trackmen and met his death like a Trojan. He unmistakably was to die.

School Dress.

No doubt the faculty and trustees of any girls' school would do service to universal womankind by insisting upon a plain, sensible costume to be worn by all pupils during the school years. Many points can be urged in favor—regard for physiological health, the saving of time, the strengthening of the will, and so on. But all young ladies, rich and poor alike, on the footing of equality in dress during the years they are in school, and the beginning of the necessity for individuality in dress.

While girls are in the school-room their minds should be occupied with their work and not with the dress which is incidental to the harmonious development of the body and mental powers which are to make the grand future. Plain, sensible, and simple, in color to save money, would conduce greatly to the benefits of a school or college course. Make this regulation dress pretty, attractive, light, and comfortable, and graceful, always bearing in mind the freedom for development of good, sound limbs and muscles; but keep rich fabrics and jewels for the social life of the future.

Keep the girls young, and with something always in anticipation, for nothing is more engaging and interesting to the youthful mind than the mise en scene of sixteen who knows everything and doesn't see much in life any more.

Rheumatic.

The drafted farmer, of whom an army surgeon related this anecdote, must have been in general a reasonably honest man. He had been accustomed to lying, but when he was brought up in the spring he had disappeared. He had, without a doubt, died of cold.

STORIES FOR BUSINESS MEN.

HOW JACOB BARRETT RENTIALIZED.

Many years ago the eccentric Jacob Barker offered some good business paper for discussion to the directors of the Bank of England. The directors met and when the Board of Directors met they threw the paper out. That displeased friend Jacob, and in a few days he presented $400,000 in bills of the counterpane, and demanded the specie from the astonished directors. It was rolled out to him in kegs of $100,000 each. The directors, finding him that they were obliged to give him five and ten cent pieces.

He was not to be even so bright and resolute a man as Jacob, but he was equal to the emergency. He ordered the porter to unlock the counterpane, being done, Jacob took a handful of coins from each and requested the teller to place the remainder—which they were obliged to count—to his credit. He secured the whole available force of the institution to count that money, and many late hours were made.

WHAT IS BANKING?

Old Mr. Le Fevre, the principal founder of the great English banking house of Le Fevre & Co., once gave a theory of banking to a customer one day in a manner rivaling the best treatises on that subject. The customer in question was one of those who are called "bankers" and had memories and tantalizing at times to have good ones. His account was usually short and snappy, but he was a little hard on the subject, his answer was invariably the same: he really had forgotten how it stood. At last Mr. Le Fevre caught him one day at the counter, and said to him:

"Mr. Y—, you and I must understand each other. I am afraid you don't know what banking really is; give me leave to tell you what it is. It's my business to take care of your money, but I find you are always taking care of mine. Now that is not banking; it must be the other way. I'm the banker, not you."

The late Duchess of St. Albans left Miss Burdett-Coutts the real sum of $1,800,000, or some $9,000,000. The weight of this prodigious sum in gold, reckoning six sovereigns to the pound, is thirteen tons, seven cwt., three qrs., twelve lbs., and would require 107 men to carry it, supposing that each of them carried the same weight. The large sum may also be particularly regarded by considering that counting at the rate of sixty sovereigns a minute for twelve hours a day and six days a week, it would take ten weeks, two days and four hours to accomplish the task. In sovereigns, by the most exact computation, each measure is divided into four parts, and each inch, and placed to touch each other, it would reach 24 miles and 230 yards; and in crown pieces, 113 miles 280 yards.

An amusing adventure is related as having happened to the Bank of England, which had committed the unpardonable sin of refusing to discount a large bill drawn by a merchant in London. The bill was for £100,000, and the Bank had refused to discount it. The merchant, who was a friend of the Bank, had been told that the Bank would not discount it, and he had been told that the Bank would not discount it.

"Private persons," exclaimed Nathan when he had finished his story, "will make these gentlemen see what kind of private persons we are."

Three weeks later Nathan Rothschild—who had been in the interval in gathering all the five-pound notes he could procure in England and on the continent—presented him at the bank. He drew from his pocketbook a bundle of five-pound notes, and he counted out five sovereigns, at the same time looking quite astonished that the Baron Rothschild should have personally troubled himself to count the money.

The Baron examined one by one the coins, and put them in a little canvas bag, then drawing out another note—a thirty-pound banknote—he never put the pieces of gold and silver into the bag without scrupulously examining them, and in some instances trying them in the balance to see if they were of the right weight.

The first pocketbook being emptied and the first bag full, he passed them to his clerk and received a second, and thus continued till the bank was emptied. The Baron employed seven hours to change £21,000, but he had also nine employees of his house engaged in the same manner, it resulted in the Baron's pocketbook being drawn £210,000 in gold from the Bank of England, and that he had occupied the tellers that no other person could change a single note.

Everything which bears the stamp of eccentricity has always pleased the English. As the Baron's story is told, it is not much amused at the little pique of Baron Rothschild. They laughed less when they saw him return the next day, at the opening of the bank, flanked by his nine clerks, and followed this time by drays to carry away the specie. They laughed not at all when the chief of bankers said with ironic simplicity:

"These gentlemen have refused to pay my bills. I have sworn not to keep them. At their leisure—only I fancy them that I have enough to employ them for two months."

For two months!

"Eleven millions in gold drawn from the Bank of England which they have never possessed."

The bank took alarm. There was something to be done. Next morning notice appeared in the journals that henceforth the Baron would pay Rothschild's bills the same as their own.

A MODERATE CHECK.

In the negotiations made some years ago by the English Government for a loan of eighty million dollars the success of the negotiations was due to the fact that the English Government was not prepared to pay the first deposit toward this amount to the government the check they drew was for £100,000,000, but the bank which was probably the largest check ever drawn by a private banking house.

A GREAT HUSBAND-MAN.

A good-natured Irishman wanted a friend to discount a bill for a remedy on a bill. "If I advance the money, asked the lender, will you pay your note punctually?" "I will, with pleasure," said the other, "the expenses of the protest are all."

FOUR MONEY-MAKING RULES.

Rothschild commonly ascribed his early success, in a great degree, to the following rules:

First—Combined three profits, I made the manufacturer my customer—that is, I supplied the manufacturer with raw materials and dyes, on each of which I made a profit, and took his manufactured goods, which I sold at a profit.

Second—Make a bargain at once. Be an off-hand man.

Third—Never have anything to do with an unlucky man or place. Have seen many clever men who had not shoes to their feet, I never set my foot on a man's head, and I never got well, but fate is against them. They cannot get on themselves; how can they do so?

Fourth—Be cautious and bold. It requires a great deal of boldness and a great deal of caution to make a great fortune; and when you have got it, it requires too much caution to keep it.

Good-Humor of the Japanese.

The author of "The Cruise of the Marchesa," agrees with the traveler in Japan that the people there are always good-natured. Certainly the circumstances under which the old gentleman kept his temper so admirably, as he describes, were such as to try the nerve and patience of a brutal man.

The excitement on our return was even greater than that we had caused at our departure, and as the King and Queen and crowds joined us at every street corner. Our sturdy little bearers put on their best countenances, and bowed long regardless of anything that might lie in our path.

Most of those we met were well enough to run with the stream, or to flatter themselves against the wall, with the exception of a grave looking old gentleman with a baby in his arms—the stuff of which the old gentleman kept his temper so admirably, as he describes, were such as to try the nerve and patience of a brutal man.

In his duty was swallowed up in no considerations of caution, and regardless of the advancing multitude, he calmly awaited our approach, and executed the profoundest bows. He never finished it. In an instant the wave of humanity had overwhelmed him.

Taken in flank by two solemn demure, whose eyes were glued on the most ornamental of our party, he was capsize in a moment. He was a man of a high order of arms with an impetus which must have caused considerable discomfort in its check.

Both were, however, almost instantly repented, or might have gone hard with them; and from my last look at the old gentleman's unmoved face, it appeared as if he regarded the whole affair as one of the common incidents of life.

Placidity of disposition and imperturbable good-humor seem to be the normal condition of this pleasant little people, and I do not think I saw a cross look or heard an angry exclamation during the whole of our visit.

Goffo.

The modern elixir of life seem to lie, not in any wondrous distillation, but in the ordinary grains of which is made our daily bread. A writer in the Popular Science Monthly says that one of the first things to attract his notice in the Canary Islands was the healthful appearance and fine development of the common people.

There is no doubt that they are a superior race, but it is also true that they use a food which, being so simple, might have gone hard with them; and from my last look at the old gentleman's unmoved face, it appeared as if he regarded the whole affair as one of the common incidents of life.

When it is to be eaten, milk, soup or any other fluid is mixed with it, without further cooking. Nothing can be more "handy" than such an article of food.

The German laborer, if he goes forth to his work alone, takes with him some coffee in a bag made of the stomach of a kid; if there are several persons, the skin of a kid is used.

The Position in Corea.

The King of Corea has appointed five Ministers Plenipotentiary to represent his Government at European courts, and this has been regarded as hostile to the interests of the Kingdom, and this is a serious crisis is impending.

When Yuen was sent to Corea several years ago an English diplomatist asked Li Hung Chang what his title to the throne was. The reply of the Viceroy clearly indicates the attitude of China toward her neighbor on the east. "When," asked Li Hung, "is the title of the agents of the British Government who live at the capital of the native States in Korea?" They are called Residents," replied the diplomatist. "Then," said the Viceroy, "we will call Yuen a Resident."

Whatever his title may be, if the residents are true, Yuen has been a faithful and faithful servant of his Government.

It was he who two years ago imprisoned or forced into exile the Abbot Chiao, the ministers of the King and filled their places with men who were loyal to China. It was he who had sent Li Hung Chang to the frontiers of the Russian Empire at Seoul, and sought to induce the Korean King to accept a Chinese protectorate. In the letter that Yuen wrote to the King, he said along fresh as he informed his Majesty that he was listening to the counsels of "selfish and cunning flatterers, and that he was determined that the flatterers have again gained the King's ear, for the rumor is that Yuen had had to flee from Seoul during the night in fear for his life."

Corea's position is certainly not happy. Normally an absolute monarch, her King is forced to make a compromise with the powers, annually to Peking as an act of vassalage. While Japan yearns for possession on the mainland, Corea was the land she coveted, and the battle ground of the Japanese and Chinese forces. Corea has suffered many ills, and from China's vacillating policy. At one time she was a vassal of China, and at another she was a vassal of Japan.

The Marquis Tseung recently declared that China was about to make "better arrangements for the future of Corea, and to enforce the sovereignty of China."

It is certain that Corea still needs these better arrangements, if China is to continue in control of the peninsula.

Weddings in Aristocratic London.

The weddings in London are certainly not different from like festivities in America, and among the aristocracy of the country. If there be any pretensions to "swellness" there is a certain amount of pomp and ceremony. There are invariably many guests. These are printed on gilt-edged cards, and the guests are in the pews, and not only the guests but the bride party are all expected to take part in singing them. Some time before the ceremony the guests are seated in the pews, and the guests are in a line on either side of the aisle through which the bride is to pass, and the bridesmaids stand in a line behind the bride until the marriage is finished, when immediately after the wedding party, including the guests of highest rank, repeat the words of the marriage service.

After a very smart wedding, the other day I saw a wedding in the city of London, the courtesy of the curate, I saw the recently signed register with "Albert Edward," "Victoria," and "Prince of Wales" as witnesses. The curate, who had evidently a very keen sense of the ridiculous, called my attention to the age of the various brides as registered in the book. The old-timer proved to be 27, the majority 19.

"I assure you," said the good-looking curate, "plenty of them are much over 40, but where is the harm? It is a very common occurrence, which will tell the truth about her own age."

It is a pretty and usual custom to have a pageant and band of honor, generally children, strew flowers before the bride upon her entrance and distribute marriage favors among the guests, such as orange blossoms tied up with white satin ribbons. An immense number of weddings take place each year before 3 o'clock in the day in St. George's, and this is the time when the curate is most proper and legal and this is the parish church of Holgrave and, in fact, of the dwellers of the court end of aristocratic London.

"AT HOME."

The work of rebuilding the Parsonage of Christ Church, Tyndinaga Reserve, commenced early in the season, has been steadily prosecuted until it is now almost completed and ready to be occupied by the incumbent and his family. An inspection of the building shows that the work has been properly performed. The room is large and airy, and but few clergymen in Ontario will find themselves more comfortably lodged than the Minister of Tyndinaga. The parsonage, as all familiar with its location are aware, is most admirably situated. Nestling among beautiful trees, convenient to the church, adjoining the station, and overlooking the waters of the Bay of Quinte, a prettier site for a residence could not be desired. Encouraged and pleased with their exertions, the building committee and members of the congregation decided to show their satisfaction by holding an "at home" at the parsonage before the Rev. Rector should take possession. Thanks-giving Day, Friday 18th Nov., was selected as the date for the occasion. Early in the evening of that day large numbers, including a contingent from Deseronto, could be seen visiting the parsonage. The visitors, as they successively arrived, were cordially welcomed by Rev. G. A. Anderson and Mrs. Anderson, and soon made to feel themselves at home in every sense of the term. About 7 o'clock dinner was announced. The drawing room had been arranged for the occasion a long table running the full length of the room. The ladies of the Reserve have long maintained a reputation for the excellence of their "spreads" in this section. On this occasion the committee selected all former efforts, the table fairly groaning under the load of delicacies with which it was adorned. Turkey, roast pig and beef, tongue, ham—but why try to enumerate everything that would tempt the palate was there and in utmost profusion. Three times the tables were filled with guests and still the supply of provisions held out against the repeated assaults. It is not often vouchsafed to a Deseronto citizen to partake of such a hearty Thanksgiving day dinner as was served on this auspicious occasion.

After dinner the tables were removed, and the room properly seated and occupied by the assembled visitors. The Rev. G. A. Anderson, Missionary of the Reserve, was called to the chair, and in a brief address narrated the steps taken to secure the supply of provisions held out against the repeated assaults. It is not often vouchsafed to a Deseronto citizen to partake of such a hearty Thanksgiving day dinner as was served on this auspicious occasion.

At the conclusion of his address Miss Emma Loft contributed a piano solo with excellent taste. Chief Ananookah was then called upon by the chairman. The Chief gave an interesting address. He expressed himself as delighted at seeing so many met together to rejoice over the success which had crowned their labors and paid a warm tribute of praise to the building committee who had provided them with the new parsonage. In 1870 as a member of the council he had felt it his duty to assist the people of the back portion of the Reserve by providing them with a school house and other privileges enjoyed by those in front. To accomplish this task he had felt it incumbent on himself to proceed to England that year to solicit funds from the people of England. He recounted the difficulties he encountered until at last he found kind friends in Sir Powell Buxton and Rev. Mr. Wilberforce. A goodly party given by the former gentleman $212 had been realized. After that he met with much encouraging assistance. The New England Company gave the Society for the propagation of the Gospel, each contributed $25 and the New England Company gave an annual grant of $50 for the Mission school. When he volunteered to go a second time to England in 1885, it was with many misgivings, as he was well aware of the many difficulties with which he would be confronted. Arrived in England he finally accepted the offer of the Colonial and Continental Church Society to labor as their agent receiving a commission on the collections. He had worked hard, holding meetings from one to three times a day, and visiting all parts of England and also Ireland and Scotland, in which latter country he had also received assistance from Presbyterians. As a result of his mission sufficient funds had been collected to restore the old church, which now presented a handsome and comfortable appearance, and also to rebuild the manse. He was glad that the Council had granted $400 to the latter undertaking and that the building committee had also donated $40 to the same object. The Band, he stated in conclusion, were deeply indebted to the Christian people of England and especially to the generosity of the Colonial and Continental Church Society. As a result of his two visits to England, $3,386 has thus far been received for church and school purposes on the Reserve.

After a well rendered vocal solo by Mr. Harry Fowler, of Deseronto, Rev. Robt. Atkinson, of St. Mark's, Deseronto, made a brief address referring to the pleasure he felt when he heard that Chief Ananookah had visited his native town in England where he had met several of his friends. He longed to see and hear of the Christian people and devoted attention which he observed characterized the services which he had at times at different times in the churches on the Reserve.

Dr. Oroniyatskha, who had come all the way from Toronto to be present on the occasion, was the next speaker. As usual he was very happy in his remarks. He recalled that the thanks of the Mohawks were due to Chief Ananookah and the Christian people of England. He felt that the sum of their duties as Indians was to gain the regard of the people of Canada and Britain and as Mohawks to sustain that name which their forefathers had raised to great heights. The other speakers of the evening were Mr. Neil McNeill, whose address was most happy and well received, a Tribune representative, and Chief Solomon Loft and Wm. Green, the addresses being interspersed with vocal solos and choruses and instrumental selections by Miss Sophie Anderson, Miss Letitia, Miss Scott, and several others. On motion of Chief Solomon Loft, seconded by Mr. E. S. Pooler, the following resolution was heartily and unanimously carried:—Resolved that the thanks of the people of the Tyndinaga Reserve and of the Christian people of Great Britain and Ireland, and especially to the Colonial and Continental Church Society and the New England Company, for their kind sympathy and generous assistance in aiding in the erection and restoration of churches, schools and parsonage for the Mohawk Reservation. The remainder of the evening was very pleasantly passed with music and conversation. Much pleasure was occasioned by the ceremony of giving an Indian name to the new parsonage. With much mystic flourish and as master of ceremonies, the Rev. Rector, Atkinson, in which Mr. Joseph Revocant gentleman was named "Kanon-sach," (New House) At a late hour this evening of genuine pleasure was felt by all joining in singing the National Anthem.

"TOWN" OF DESERONTO.

Mr. Editor.—I think it will be the duty of the council for 1888 of this village of Deseronto to take steps to have the village erected into a town by the name of the "Town of Deseronto" to take effect on and from the first Monday of January, 1888. What say you?

WM. R. AYLSWORTH.

WHAT AM I TO DO?

The symptoms of Biliousness are unpleasantly put too well-known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent appetite for liquids but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furled, it is rough, at all events. The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhoea or Constipation may be a symptom or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulency in the stomach. To correct all this is not a cure try Green's August Flavour, it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

THREE IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

To the Editor of the Tribune.
SIR:—As the municipal elections are almost at hand, it is time for all those interested in the progress of our already overgrown village to ask themselves: What can be done in 1888 to strengthen and maintain our position as the leading municipality, comparatively speaking, on the Bay of Quinte, if not in the province of Ontario. In my way of thinking the first question should be our incorporation as Town next, the establishment of a high school—these are two questions on which the electors should pronounce no uncertain sound—and lastly, waterworks, if our financial resources would bear the strain. Besides being a valuable boon to householders the erection of waterworks would be a decided advantage in case of fire and should reduce the premiums on insurance. During the last ten years we have gradually pulled ahead of Napanee & Belleville. These two corporations are now busy erecting waterworks; Will Deseronto allow them to get the start of us on this particular point?

Yours &c.,

JAS. CAMERON.

RESCUED AT THE BRINK.

THE STORY OF A POOR WOMAN.
I called upon a poor woman who was very sick. She had not slept for several weeks. Her friends said she was dying of consumption; indeed she was so low I feared that it would be but a very short time until she would pass away. I looked around on her little children and resolved if possible to cure her, but how to do it was the question. I was well used to the different forms of consumption and knew her trouble all came from the "head" and that her lungs were being destroyed by breathing the poisonous secretions into them. I came home praying that God would give me what was wanted to cure her—and he did it in a strange way. A little boy came into the room where I was and wanted me to look at a star on a piece of paper. It proved to be an advertisement of Naal's Balm. I read it at once and it proved to be just what I wanted as to-day the woman's head is all right. She is able to do her own work and is getting stronger every day. This remarkable change was effected by one bottle of Naal's Balm. Enclose 50 cents for another bottle which is for a young lady here who has had catarrh for a long time. Please send at once and I will try and make it worth known in this place. It is a pleasure for me to write for the suffering and praise the medicine that deserves it.

The Big Store.

Those large Iron Bound Cases in front of the Store last week contained our Fall Importations of British and Foreign Dry Goods, which have been passed through the customs and are now ready for inspection. The diversity of the goods we imported is such as to make it almost impossible to enumerate all the different styles, but we hope to have the pleasure of showing every person in Deseronto and vicinity our desirable Stock.

DRESS GOODS.

We have given special attention to this Department and will show the most desirable fabrics of English, French, German and American makers. The completeness, freshness and variety of stock afford Ladies the most ample latitude from which to select.

GLOVES and HOSIERY an endless variety. We will sell Ladies' Kid Gloves black and colored at 75c a pair and which cannot be equalled elsewhere for $1.00.

UNDERCLOTHING and TOP SHIRTS must be seen to be appreciated.

In our Tailoring Department, is displayed a variety of fabrics, including the finest of imported goods. Only selected labor is employed, and this coupled with the practical knowledge of Mr. Stoddart, which a life long experience in the business confers, ensures the production of work which is not surpassed by any similar establishment in Canada.

BOOTS & SHOES.

In this department will be found full and complete lines of Infants', Children's, Misses', Women's and Men's Boots and Shoes, purchased from the best manufacturers and selected with great care for the requirements of our patrons.

A distinguished feature of our Establishment is the magnitude of our grocery and provision trade, both wholesale and retail. The extent of our operations gives us every advantage in buying and enables us to offer to our customers inducements in prices and quality which cannot be obtained elsewhere. We respectfully solicit a call from dealers and consumers.

Scribbling books—the cheapest and best at the Tribune office.

Egar is a hustler—he invites customers through the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

The planet Venus, now seen every morning in the eastern heavens, shines with unusual brilliancy.

The superintendents of the motive departments are busy getting their departments ready for the winter.

The Reeve has issued a notice forbidding all coasting on the boardwalk. There have been many accidents and the Chief has orders to arrest all offenders.

Read Egar's advertisements. Egar has a splendid stock this season. Call on him early and get your Christmas presents. He can gratify your every choice.

Reva, D. O. Crossley and G. W. Dewey, after a successful season of evangelistic work at Wyoming, are now at Lindsay, where the prospects of a glorious work is very encouraging.

Gospel Song Service in the Church of the Redeemer, Sabbath evening next.
"The Parable of the Lost Coin." All are welcome, especially those who have no church connection.

During the holiday season all changes of advertisements and reading notices must be handed in by Wednesday at noon, otherwise they will not be inserted in the forthcoming issue of THE TRIBUNE.

Mr. George Hunt has placed on our table a specimen of gold quartz taken from his brother's place about three miles back of Tamworth. Assayers pronounce this quartz rich in the precious metal.

There will be no meeting of S. Mark's Guild this evening. The members of the Guild are requested to attend in full force at the Oyster Supper to be held in honour of the Rev. Rural Dean Baker on Friday evening next.

The Ashes Sifter of which Mr. James Stokes at the dock is agent is without a rival. It will pay for itself in the course of a month or two, as every person who has tried it can prove. Coal is high this season, therefore secure one.

On Sabbath evening next, Nov. 27th, in the Methodist Church, Deseronto, a Christian Battle Song Service will be held, with a review of St. Paul's first missionary tour, taking in Antioch on the Quins and Antioch in Pisidia. Service will commence at 7 o'clock. The public are cordially invited.

The forthcoming Christmas Number of HARPER'S MAGAZINE will be the most princely descendant of its royal line, with the noble blood of many kinds of thought throbbing in its arteries, and richly decked in sumptuous attire of illustrations. In point of attractive reading and luxurious drawings it takes the palm even from the previous holiday numbers of "The Giant of the Monthlies."

The Annual Meeting of the Deseronto Branch Bible Society will be held in the White Church, on Monday next, 28th inst., at 7:30 o'clock. The usual business will be transacted and officers elected for the ensuing year. Rev. Joseph Young, of Belleville, Agent of the Society, and the resident clergyman of Deseronto, will deliver addresses. Admission free. The public generally are cordially invited to be present on this interesting occasion.

It is a peculiarity of HARPER'S MAGAZINE for December that it contains no continued stories. It is a volume complete in itself. The short stories and sketches are exceptionally good, however. "Julia" is an almost painfully realistic tale by Annie Rives. "Annie Laurie" is a pleasing bit of fiction by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, with four illustrations by Reinhardt. "Captain Santa Claus" is by Captain King; "Graddock's Heldest" is by Frances Courtenay Baylor; and a delightful sketch of "His Day in Court" is by Charles Egbert Cresswell.

The Rev. Rural Dean Baker, of Bath, and formerly of Deseronto, will (D. V.) preach two sermons in the White Church on Sunday, Dec. 4th. He has been arranged by the members of S. Mark's congregation and the friends of Rural Dean Baker, to give the Rev. gentlemen a public reception in the basement of S. Mark's Church on Friday evening next, Dec. 2nd. An Oyster Supper will be provided on this interesting occasion. Tickets 50 cents each. Proceeds will be devoted to the Organ Fund. A very pleasing time is anticipated.

The Young People's Association of the Church of the Redeemer held their regular meeting at the Manse on Friday evening. There was a good attendance and all enjoyed themselves most heartily. In addition to indulging in several games a good programme was extemporized, including a recitation by Miss Jessie Porter, a reading by Mr. J. Allum, Jr. and W. A. Macleod, a Gaelic song by Mr. N. McNeill, an address by Mr. J. Fraser, Treasurer, and some instrumental music by Mrs. Craig. During the evening cake and coffee were served and enjoyed. At the close a number of Mr. Russell, recorded by Mr. Hampton, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Craig for their kindness in placing the manse at the disposal of the Association and for the generous hospitality extended during the evening. The next meeting of the Association will be held in the parlor of the church on Friday evening, Dec. 2nd.

Secure your winter Ulster. Several good lines still on hand at the Big Store.

The Big Store is showing a splendid assortment of Lamps at reasonable prices.

Herb and Tom consider themselves pillars of the church as they are both pious apothecaries' clerks.

A handsome dump car has been turned out at Chatham, N. B.

What about that crossing at the Deseronto Flour Mills for which the travelling public are clamoring so loudly?

A new charcoal kiln, the second this year, and the third at the works is being constructed at the Chemical works.

The cheapest line ever offered of men's all-wool Shirts and Drawers, $1.50 a suit at the Big Store. Sold at all other stores for $2.00.

The wide-awake little boy now finds his way with great regularity to the Sunday schools in order to share the pleasures of Christmas tide.

The Industry has ceased work for the season. This vessel with her auxiliaries is one of the most profitable appliances in the possession of the Railway company.

Prof. Suddaby, the eminent ventriloquist, gave a pleasing performance on Tuesday evening. His feats were such as to greatly impress his audience, who will be happy to have him visit Deseronto again.

HARPER'S BAZAR, to be published November 18th, will contain an illustrated Thanksgiving story, "Whether or No," by Mrs. Alice Terry Cooke, and two pages of illustrations from the exhibition at the rooms of the Associated Artists.

It may be safely said that Mr. George Souler has this year the finest stock of jewelry ever seen in Deseronto. Those contemplating making purchases for Christmas should give him a call. Did you see those watches lately imported and sold for a song?

Do not forget the Annual Tea Meeting of the Methodist congregation to be held in the White Church this evening. Tea served from 7 to 8 o'clock. The ladies have prepared a sumptuous repast. The programme will leave nothing to be desired. Tickets, 25 cents.

Several of our prominent citizens have received circulars from Europe asking them to purchase tickets in the Hamburg lottery. It is just as well to cast these circulars into the fire. Nothing is to be made out of these gambling ventures, which yearly pauperize so many unwary speculators.

Mr. E. W. Rathbun, together with Hon. Benjamin Butterworth and Mr. Erasmus Deseronto, addressed a public meeting in Oswego last Saturday evening. The meeting was called by the Board of Trade to discuss Commercial Union. The Oswego papers state that all the speeches were of a high order.

A change of time tables comes into effect on Monday, 28th inst., on the Grand Trunk. The following are the times: 2:30 P.M. Trains leave Deseronto to meet Grand Trunk express at 12:10 and 11:10 a.m., and mixed trains going east at 7:45 a.m. and 8:55 p.m.; for express trains going west at 2:35 a.m. and 4:45 p.m., and mixed going west at 9:15 a.m. and 8:55 p.m. Parties taking 11:10 a.m. train can go direct through to Newburgh, Tamworth, &c.

A poor woman, who suffers from some mental hallucination, is wont to parade our streets at all hours of the day and night. Her case deserves the consideration of the philanthropic ladies of Deseronto. It is possible that some sisterly persuasion would cause her to forego her peripatetic habits. Should this fail the approach of severe weather will necessitate her removal to some institution. We are glad to learn that this far-sighted lady has been found or thought less as to make her the victim of jeer or insult.

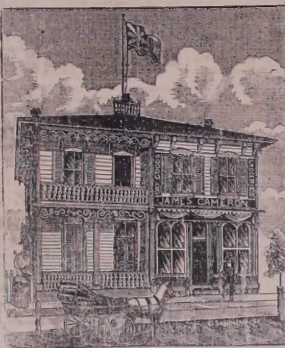

A case was tried before Mr. Flint on Monday morning, the principals in which are from Deseronto. Samuel Shaw had an account of $1.50 against Mrs. Elizabeth Green and went to her house for collection. She denied the claim and gave him five minutes to move out. When the five minutes grace had expired Shaw was still there. Mrs. Green is a large woman and did not hesitate in assisting him to vacate. The services of the ever-ready broom were enlisted, and the handle broke over his back as he made his exit. The fine and costs amounted to $7.00.—Belleville Intelligencer.

The Globe of Tuesday says:—"A motion was made yesterday to the Common Pleas Division a Court at Oswego Hall, to fix a day and place for the trial of the petition by John White against the return of S. B. Bardett to the House of Commons for East Hastings. It was contended by the respondent, as in the East Egin case, that the petition was out of Court by reason of the six months' delay in bringing it to trial. The point was fully argued out, and the motion now stands for judgment. A question was also raised as to the jurisdiction of a Divisional Court to fix a day, etc. It was contended that a Divisional Court has very limited powers, chiefly of an appellate nature; that the High Court sits only in the person of a single judge."

The Reeve in his brief communication, and Councillor Cameron in his letter, bring up the question of the incorporation of Deseronto as a town. We are pleased to receive such correspondence as it indicates a revival of public spirit. Deseronto should undoubtedly be made a town. We have sufficient population and our wonderful growth still continues. The change would entail only trifling expense, and every resident feels ashamed of the title of village. We believe the change will be hailed with general satisfaction. A high school is our greatest necessity. Without it the youth of Deseronto cannot hope to compete as mechanics, business men or professional men with those of other towns. The working men should not allow their present disadvantages in this respect to continue. As for waterworks, they are a sanitary necessity. Whether undertaken by the corporation or a company they would soon become a profitable investment.

Great Success.

Our Flannel Sale is a great success. We call it a Flannel Sale, but it really is not. The fact of the matter is, we have secured some special bargains in Flannels and are giving the people the benefit. The extraordinary value is seen at a glance. This is a great opportunity to secure Flannels at wholesale prices. Allow us to tell you about the prices once more. All-wool—remember all-wool—Grey Flannel at 18c. per yard. Better grades at 20c., 25c., 30c., 37½c. and 40c. per yard, which are equally good bargains. Red, White, Navy, Opera and Canton Flannels.

Mantle Department.

We would like to tell you about our Mantle Department again. Our success in this department is phenomenal. We are turning out more ordered Mantles, Ulsters, Wraps and Jackets than ever before in the history of the establishment. Miss Allison is just as expert in cutting and fitting Mantles as Dresses. To this we add the benefit derived from having them made in our Tailoring room. We carry a large stock of Sealettes, Mantle Cloths, Tweeds, etc., for this trade. Every garment guaranteed satisfaction.

Fancy Goods Department.

This is the Ladies' department. It is possible to humbug the public generally, but it is not possible to humbug the individual woman. The ladies who make their purchases from us can tell you about our values and assortments in Gloves, Hosiery, Fascinators, Clouds, Tuques, Booties, Leggings, Mitts, Underwear, etc. A nice range of Children's Knit Jackets, commencing at 75c. each.

Millinery Department.

The latest novelties in Millinery Goods can be procured from us. We carry a splendid assortment of Wings, Tips, Feathers, Ribbons, Plushes and trimmings of all kinds. If you want nice stylish Millinery Goods at reasonable prices don't fail to call on us.
